

Native Wonders: Only 35 Million Ever Visited Capital?

By ED CREAGH
WASHINGTON (AP)—What's this? Only 35 million grownup Americans have been to Washington? That's what the latest Gallup Poll says. The number seems incredibly small to anybody who lives here all year round. Most of us would guess there must be 35 million a day.

Don't get us wrong—we love tourists. We take it as a personal compliment when they admire the Jefferson Memorial or the White House aglow with yellow lights in the summer twilight. Our hotel keepers and restaurant proprietors love tourists too. And there's a feeling the constant presence of peering strangers has a good influence on people in government—reminds them the United States is made up of flesh-and-blood Americans, not just zigzags on somebody's statistical charts. But in these last two weeks of August, when everybody and his brother-in-law is on vacation—is it possible there is a living American who doesn't come to Washington? Tourists, in the opinion of old settlers here, fall generally into four main classes:

1. Honeymooners. You see them everywhere, strolling hand in hand. It is doubtful if they see you, however. From the sightseeing standpoint, they'd be as well off at a cabin in the woods.

2. High school kids. They come in the spring, mostly, but they're here in force right now too. Crammed into buses, conveyed by harassed teachers, they mostly (a) buy funny hats for souvenirs and

(b) pair off in pre-honeymoon couples. Some learn a thing or two about the government.

3. Families. The late Robert Benchley said there are two ways to travel—first class and with children. There is one thing to be said in favor of seeing Washington with a couple of toddlers in tow—you get to know every restroom in every public building.

4. The real, eyes-open sightseers. Sometimes these are schoolteachers on their own, released somehow from their clamoring packs of pupils. More often they're middle-aged couples, contentedly wandering, clicking away judiciously with a camera they couldn't afford until daughter got married and junior finished college. Actually, they're on a second honeymoon though they'd blush if you mentioned it.

Only 35 million of them? It seems incredible. There must have been that many today alone when we tried to get into the cafeteria around the corner on Pennsylvania avenue for lunch.

Eight Organizations Are Approved By Committee For Community Chest

Eight Red Feather agencies were approved by the Community Chest social planning committee Monday night in the first of three steps leading up to their participation in the Community Chest campaign set for October, dates for which will be officially announced later.

Following approval of the social planning committee, the applications go to the budget committee, and then to the Chest board of directors for final approval and inclusion in the annual fund campaign.

MEETING At the Chamber of Commerce office Monday evening, the committee heard a report from one of its members concerning each agency, discussed that report and took action on its approval.

Each committee member, a representative of one of the agencies now participating in the Community Chest, was assigned a different organization. The member's duty was to obtain information about the services and program of activities the group assigned to him and what it has to offer to the people of Fayette County.

Through this procedure the agencies' program of work is not only investigated but the various representatives become more familiar with the program carried on by the other organizations which make up the Community Chest.

Approved by the social planning committee were: Boy Scouts, Campfire Girls, Community Activity Fund, 4-H Club Camp, Fayette County Mental Health Association, Salvation Army, United Defense Fund (USO), and the YWCA (Y-Teens).

APPLICATIONS of these eight groups will be considered by the budget committee later this week, and final action is to be taken by the board of directors next Monday evening. All eight agencies have been included in the Community Chest in prior campaigns.

Members of the social planning committee and the organization they represent are: Boy Scouts, Lawrence Burris; Campfire Girls, James Chakiers; Community Activity Fund, Edward Kreider; 4-H Club Camp, Miss Louise Ritter; Fayette County Mental Health Association, Don Gibson; Salvation Army, Delbert E. Morris; United Defense Fund, Walter Patton and YWCA, Mrs. Charles Hire.

Also at the meeting were Dr. Charles Griffiths, the Community Chest president; two members of the board of directors, Mrs. Roy Thompson and George T. Combs; and Perse Harlow, the executive secretary.

'Famous Ohioan' Celebration Being Arranged For October

MANSFIELD (AP)—A homecoming celebration for "famous Ohioans" as part of the state's sesquicentennial program has been set for Oct. 19 and 20.

Plans for the celebration to honor more than 50 famous Ohioans were completed this week at Louis Bromfield's Malabar farms near here.

Farmer-Novelist Bromfield and Allen James Lowe, Cleveland hotel executive, were asked by Gov. Frank J. Lausche to serve as co-chairmen of a sesquicentennial subcommittee to arrange this homecoming.

Invitations to the program, issued by the governor, were reported to have brought favorable responses from such figures as Bob Hope, Lowell Thomas, Roy Rogers, Milton Caniff, Arthur H. Compton, Maj. Gen. Curtis E. LeMay, Eddie Rickenbacker and many others.

New Italian Cabinet OK'd

Premier Promising No Move On Europe Unity

ROME (AP)—Italy took a vacation from political crisis today with its new government firmly backed by both houses of Parliament. The regime is pledged to do nothing about such controversial questions as European unity and land redistribution.

Premier Giuseppe Pella, a Christian Democrat financial expert and a steady friend of the West, won a confidence vote in the Chamber of Deputies last night.

Previously he had won a decisive victory in the Senate. With this hurdle safely passed, the 51-year-old Pella went to work to give Italy what he described as a "business" government, and the Chamber of Deputies began a month's vacation.

For the rest of the summer, at any rate, it appeared the nation might enjoy a semblance of political calm.

Pella won the deputies' backing by emphasizing his was only a temporary government, pledged not to bring up any major policy questions.

HE SAID HE stepped into the breach caused by the downfall of former Premier Alcide de Gasperi's eighth cabinet only to get a new budget passed and to deal with other urgent administrative affairs.

The Chamber backed the Pella Cabinet last night 315-215 with 44 deputies abstaining. Three center parties, the Christian Democrats, Liberals and Republicans, and the rightwing Monarchists supported it, while the Communists and the leftwing Socialists opposed it.

Members of the neo-Fascist Italian Social Movement and Democratic Socialists abstained.

U. N. IS URGED TO IGNORE SOUTH KOREAN THREATS

Enemy Claims 400 U.N. POWs Staying Behind

Reds Say Men Prefer Communism; 136 More American GIs Freed

PANMUNJOM (AP)—The Reds reported here last night that 400 Allied prisoners they hold may not return to freedom because they prefer Communist rule.

The enemy made this report as another 136 Americans and 264 other U. N. POWs were exchanged here.

Allied sources confirmed that the Red statement was handed over at a meeting of the Prisoner Repatriation Committee here last night. There was no word of a breakdown of nationalities among the 400.

Yesterday's release of 9 American officers and 127 enlisted men boosted to nearly 2,000 the number of Americans liberated in three weeks of the prisoner exchange.

One hundred and thirty-three more will be freed tonight.

Many Americans repatriated earlier have told of some fellow captives who have elected to remain behind, either because they had turned informer and feared retaliation or had swallowed Communist propaganda.

IN SHARP contrast to Communist prisoners moving northward, yesterday's liberated Americans came back quietly. A few shouted jubilantly, but most were silent, simply happy to return from bleak North Korean camps. They appeared in good health.

Communist prisoners delivered by the U. N. Command continued their violent demonstrations. Their return was interrupted three times when North Koreans spat in the faces of two Allied officers.

Beside the 136 Americans, the Reds handed over 250 South Koreans, 8 Canadians, 3 Australians, 2 Dutch and 1 Greek.

The return of the Dutch soldiers was a surprise. The Reds had claimed they didn't hold any prisoners of that nationality.

Delivery of eight Canadians raised to 24 the number returned, six more than the Communists had said they would give back.

The Reds gave no explanation for the additional returnees.

The nine American officers, all infantry or field artillery, returned today were of low rank and there was no indication when the Communists would hand over top Allied officers held captive.

Ike's Letter Brings Joy To Dying Boy, 6

DENVER (AP)—President Eisenhower hasn't forgotten Paul Henry Haley, the 6-year-old boy who physicians say will die of cancer.

The President began the friendship a week ago Sunday when he paid Paul an unannounced call after reading that the boy wanted to meet him. After the visit, Paul proclaimed that the President was a better man than Hopalong Cassidy. Later, a thank you note was sent to the President in the youngster's name.

Now Paul is displaying this letter on official stationery:

"Dear Paul,
"I was so happy to receive the nice message which your mother forwarded to me. I enjoyed my short visit with you and I send my best wishes for your speedy return to good health.
"Take care of yourself.
"Sincerely, Dwight D. Eisenhower"

Red Cross Allowed Talks With Hand-Picked POWs

MUNSAN (AP)—U. N. Red Cross officials returned today from three weeks in Communist North Korea and said they were allowed to talk only to hand-picked U. N. prisoners of war and under the watchful eyes of the Reds.

The chief of the 30-man Red Cross team, R. M. Jerram of Cornwall, England, said:

"The general frustration of the whole thing was a result of an aggregate of restrictions, delays and petty arguments."

For a military escort the workers had "a lot of nasty little thugs with sub-machineguns," Jerram said.

Not a prisoner among the selected ones interviewed voiced a single complaint against the Reds, the workers reported.

Jerram "strongly suspected" those interviewed were carefully picked; "we were not permitted free access to the other POWs."

Released prisoners have said the Reds chose only "progressives" (prisoners who went along with the Reds or at least purported to) to speak to the Red Cross.

Jerram said the teams (an equal number of Communist Red Cross workers went along) visited two camps of non-Korean prisoners and talked to "representatives" of the two others.

They visited Camps 1 and 3, most of whose prisoners have been repatriated. They talked to men of Nos. 2 and 4. No. 2 holds about 470 officers and No. 4 600 enlisted men.

Gerald Corom of Canton, Ohio who headed other Red Cross teams which toured camps holding South Koreans, said:

"We neither saw nor heard evidence of any violation of the Geneva convention."

Corom said, however, his men were "only partially free" to do their job.

Will Celebrate 50th Anniversary Of Bank Sept. 3
The fiftieth anniversary of the Milledgeville Bank, located at Jeffersonville, is to be celebrated fittingly on Thursday, September 3.

A high point of the program for the event will be the presence of Dr. Grayson Kirk, president of Columbia University and a former resident of Jefferson Township in this county.

Dr. Kirk, who recently returned from a European trip, will be the speaker at a special meeting, to which the public is invited, to be held in the auditorium of the Methodist Church in Jeffersonville at 8 P. M.

Previous to the public meeting the ladies of the Jeffersonville Eastern Star, will serve a dinner in the church for the directors and stockholders of the bank and their wives.

The Milledgeville Bank has established a fine reputation over its half century of service which has been carried on without interruption during that period.

Officers of the institution are A. Ford Ervin, president, Frank E. Hidy, vice-president; Mildred Fent, cashier. Directors are A. F. Ervin, Frank E. Hidy, Warren W. Williams, Ray Maddox, Forrest P. Smith, D. H. Allen and Ray Smith Ropp.

'Missing' Freed

CINCINNATI (AP)—Two Cincinnati soldiers released last night from Communist prisoner of war camps previously were reported missing in action. They are 2nd Lt. Charles E. Davis, 27, and Cpl. Edward F. Beck.

OHIO POW Made No Predictions
FREEDOM VILLAGE (AP)—Cpl. Edward F. Beck was making no predictions how long he would be a Red prisoner of war.

When the 21-year-old soldier from Cincinnati walked to freedom today, he displayed a tattoo on his arm reading:

"POW, North Korea, 1950-19--"

"I knew I was going to get out sometime but I was going to believe it when I see it," he explained.

"I'll fill in the 53 now."

Escaped Prisoner Sees Escape Movie
SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—Billy Chrismon, 32, a trusty at the Davis County Jail in nearby Farmington, made like an escape artist yesterday.

Tipped by two Farmington women, police found him in a theater here.

The movie? "Houdini," story of the great escape artist. Advised of the pinch, Chrismon begged, "Can't you sit here with me until the picture is over?"

More Nations Back India In Peace Debate

ROKs Say They Can't Take Part in Parley If Nehru There Too

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—New Zealand's Leslie Knox Munro called on the U. N. today to ignore South Korea's threatened boycott and recommended the inclusion of India in the Korean peace conference.

Munro addressed the General Assembly's 60-nation Political Committee as more countries lined up in support of India as opposed to a stand taken by the United States, South Korea and Cuba.

South Korea's Foreign Minister Y. T. Pyun said yesterday his government would find it impossible to sit in the conference with India unless India was seated with the Communists.

Munro said he could not "believe the government of Korea would jeopardize the conference on the ground of Indian participation." If it does, he said, it would jeopardize its cause.

"For the General Assembly to decide its course on the implications of the Korean statement," Munro said, "would mean it has abdicated its independence."

Among those lining up behind Britain and her commonwealth partners for the inclusion of India were Iraq, Ethiopia, Mexico and Syria. The Communist bloc also favors India.

PYUN AND Col. Ben Limb, South Korea's permanent observer at the U. N., declared last night: "The Republic of Korea finds it impossible to collaborate with India on the same side."

"If India wants to sit on the Communist side, all right," added Pyun. "We are not vetoing who will be at the peace conference. But we certainly can say whether we will be there, and we certainly may walk out or boycott the conference if the U. N. goes ahead and votes to sit India on our side."

Pyun earlier yesterday had bitterly attacked India before the U. N. Assembly's Political Committee as an appeaser of the Communists, "not only trafficking with the Communists but intriguing with them to make the free world look contemptible."

His violent blast visibly rocked India's chief delegate, V. K. Krishna Menon. The Indian may reply late today or tomorrow.

The committee was holding two sessions of debate today, but 11 speakers, including British Minister of State Selwyn Lloyd and Russia's Andrei Y. Vishinsky, were ahead of Menon.

India's candidacy for the conference is backed by Britain and three other Commonwealth countries, Russia and most of the Arab-Asian bloc. The United States opposes India at the peace table, arguing that to admit her would discriminate against such other neutrals interested in Korea as Japan and Nationalist China.

PYUN PILED up a running series of denunciations against India in the Political Committee, accusing her of "appeasement to the Communist aggressors, treachery of the first magnitude, constantly hatching at the tree of freedom to please the enemy of freedom."

"India has done nothing but disservice to the cause of human freedom by pandering to the interests of the enemy of freedom."

He also assailed Prime Minister Nehru's government for its support of the recent installation of a pro-Indian government in Kashmir, declaring:

"From the knowledge of how India has been behaving in Kashmir, my delegation gravely doubts whether India will live up (Please Turn To Page Two)

Civil Service Panel Fires Ike-Backer

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U. S. Civil Service Commission has penalized a former lieutenant governor of Mississippi, Sam Lumpkin, because it found he was a leader in the "Democrats for Eisenhower" movement while holding a federal-state job.

Lumpkin resigned by request last Nov. 10 as director of the Mississippi Employment Security Commission, a job paying $9,350 a year. The Civil Service Commission announced yesterday that he has been declared ineligible for re-employment by the state of Mississippi for 18 months from Aug. 21.

The commission found that Lumpkin had violated the Hatch Act, which bars certain political activities by federal employees and state employees whose principal duties are in connection with activity financed in whole or in part with federal funds.

The Employment Security Commission, a job placement agency, is financed in part with federal money.

The Civil Service Commission also said four employees of the Internal Revenue Service at Aberdeen, S. D., have been dismissed for activities found to be in violation of the Hatch Act. All were accused of soliciting Democratic party contributions.

Stenographer Being Sought In Slaying Of Teen-Age Girl

SOMERVILLE, Mass. (AP)—A 25-year-old "very pretty" stenographer was sought today for questioning in the slaying of 14-year-old Mary Di Rocco, whose bullet-punctured, slashed and partially burned body was found in the cellar of her home yesterday.

Police identified the girl they are seeking as Miss Mildred McDonald, an employee of the State Unemployment Compensation Division.

They said she kept company with Joseph Di Rocco, 25, the victim's brother, for about three years until he married another girl last April.

Medical Examiner Andrew D. Guthrie said five slugs from a .22-caliber target pistol entered the Di Rocco girl's body—in the heart, the head, jaw and abdomen.

In addition, he said, there was a slash on the girl's throat as if made by a razor or a sharp knife.

Heavy motor oil had been poured over the girl's body and newspapers and a magazine, placed around it, had been set ablaze.

Police said the motor oil did not catch fire because it burns only under high temperature.

The burning papers caused only a slight scorch on the girl's side before the fire was extinguished by Robert Di Rocco, 17, another of the victim's brothers, who was attracted to the cellar by the smell of smoke when he arrived home.

Robert said he passed Miss McDonald on his front steps and chatted a few minutes before he entered his family's house.

Angelo Di Rocco, the slain girl's father, said he went home to lunch and found Miss McDonald there with his daughter.

He told police he asked Miss McDonald what she was doing there and she replied: "I just came over for a while."

The father said he advised her to leave and that she answered: "I'll go after I have another cigarette."

He said he left to return to his job as a truck driver after having a sandwich. He said his wife was out shopping at the time.

Part of Main Street To Get New Seal Coat

Bad Condition of Over Two Squares Necessitates Work

Main Street, from Market to the Pennsylvania Railroad, is undergoing a face-lifting which it has been needing for some time.

After going over the street carefully and noting the countless number of cracks in the layer of old asphalt, also the "dead" condition of the asphalt, City Manager James Parkinson decided upon a plan which he believes will bring results, with a minimum of expense.

To seal the cracks against water and frost, and rejuvenate the old asphalt, Parkinson decided upon application of a seal coat of asphalt and No. 9 limestone chips, which are very fine.

THIS APPLICATION is expected to save the street from going to pieces under bad weather conditions, and will give a good wearing surface for years to come, it was stated.

How the street thus far has escaped going to pieces under freezing and thawing, is a mystery, it was pointed out.

However, with a seal coat on the surface, water will be shut out and will not penetrate the layer of blacktop which was laid over the old brick paving many years ago and has held up remarkably well.

The east side of the more than two blocks of the street was blocked off Tuesday morning, and work of filling up depressions in the surface of the street was started.

It was expected that the first section of the street, the east half, would be "shot" with the G. D. Baker equipment during Tuesday afternoon.

The remainder of the street will be prepared and "shot" Wednesday, if weather permits, it was indicated.

Mosquitoes Back In Large Numbers

Mosquitoes, which had been very conspicuous by their absence in Washington C. H. so far this season, are appearing in force in some parts of the city, according to reports from various citizens.

Apparently the present breed came forth during the last few days, and most of the insects are somewhat smaller than usual, but are just as annoying as ever.

In response to the outbreak, City Manager James F. Parkinson is again having catch basins treated, as well as other spots.

One belief expressed is that the mosquitoes are hatching in stagnant water in Paint Creek, rather than in catch basins, as the catch basins have been treated since the last rainfall, it was indicated.

600 Tons Of Straw Destroyed By Fire

Six hundred tons of straw valued at $20,000, ricked up at the Container Corporation plant in Circleville, were destroyed by fire which started early Saturday.

Firemen have been pouring water on the smoldering straw since the fire was brought under control after a spectacular blaze.

Firemen prevented spread of the flames to adjoining ricks of straw.

Savings Bonds Sales Increase

July Total $59,912 In Fayette County

Ohio sales of Series E and H Savings Bonds during July showed a slight increase over purchases for the same month a year ago to keep the state's month-by-month record of greater sales intact, Richard P. Rankin, chairman of the Fayette County Savings Bond Committee, said today.

Sales in Fayette County for last month were $59,912, compared to July, 1952, investment of $26,781.

The last month in which Ohio failed to show an increase was in November, 1952, and this was the only month in the 19-month period to show a decrease. Total sales of the two bonds in July, 1953, were $21,859,257, and compare to $21,534,830 for the same month last year.

Largest dollar gains for the month came from the following metropolitan counties: Summit, Franklin, Lucas and Mahoning.

Chairman Rankin said that cash value of Series E and H Bonds held by individuals in the United States on June 30, 1953, reached $36,048,000,000, which is one-and-a-half billion dollars more than the cash value of E Bonds held on May 1, 1951, when they began to mature.

Sales in adjacent counties during July were: Clinton, $63,768 with $39,225 a year ago; Greene, $46,375 compared with $95,466 in July, 1952; Highland, $47,943, and $35,437 a year ago; Madison $65,912 and $21,375 in July, 1952; Pickaway $20,121, while in July last year the total was $42,550, and Ross, $64,475 compared with $50,737 a year ago.

Marion McClure Retired Farmer, Dies Here Monday

Marion C. McClure, 76, a retired farmer residing near Buena Vista, died Monday at 3:15 P. M. at Memorial Hospital. He had been in failing health for the past eight months.

Mr. McClure had been a resident of Fayette County for the past year, previously living for a number of years at Pontiac, Michigan, where he was employed by the Fisher Body Co., as a tool and die maker.

He was born in Paulding County in this state. He came to Fayette County in his early years where he spent many years of his early manhood.

He is survived by his wife, Pearl Louise; one brother, Harry McClure, residing near New Martinsburg; one sister, Mrs. Gertrude Ballantine, living in Washington C. H. Seven nieces and four nephews also survive.

Friends may call at the Parrett Funeral Home in this city at any time.

Funeral services are to be held at the funeral home at 9:30 Wednesday morning. Burial will take place in the Young Cemetery in Liberty Center, Ohio.

The Nation Today

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON (AP)—The Russians were expected to make some move to influence the West German elections and perhaps try to mollify the East Germans. They made it. It was as delicate and subtle as a truck.

In East Germany, run by Communist puppets of Moscow, are 18 million Germans. In West Germany, whose freely elected government cooperates with the West, are 48 million Germans.

Germans in both sections want their country unified. The Russians have balked at Western Allied attempts to bring it about. But the possibility makes nice bait for the Russians to dangle over Germans' heads.

In West Germany on Sept. 6 there will be elections for the new Bundestag, the lower house of Parliament. The main contest is between the Christian Democrats, headed by Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, and the Social Democrats.

The result will decide whether Adenauer continues in office. In working with the West, he has gone so far as to favor putting West Germans in the European Defense Community, a single West European army, which hasn't been created yet.

The Russians have fiercely opposed this military tieup with the Western Allies. They have a stake in wanting Adenauer defeated.

The Social Democrats have campaigned against Adenauer with the argument that his plan for joining EDC would make unification impossible, since Russia could block it by holding on to East Germany. So EDC and unification became main issues in the German elections.

But before Russia could make some move intended to influence the West Germans against Adenauer, events took the play from them. In mid-June the East Germans rioted against the treatment given them by the Russians and their puppets in East Germany.

It was clear notice to the West Germans and to the world how they felt about their Communist-run East German government. This gave the West an opportunity to help the East Germans and add to the Russians' embarrassment.

Shortly after the riots the United States started sending 15 million dollars in food to Adenauer's government to distribute to any East Germans who would dare the Russians by going into West Berlin for it. Many dared.

The Russians earlier were put under an additional embarrassment when this country asked them to let the food be sent into East Germany. They refused.

The West, of course, has a stake in the outcome of the German elections too since it wants Adenauer to win and get into the EDC. If the West German voters could be influenced, the food wouldn't lose votes for Adenauer.

Then the United States, Britain and France hit the Russians another belt. They suggested their foreign ministers sit down with Russia's foreign minister to talk about unification and free elections for all Germans, East and West, to choose a single German government.

After the demonstration of East German feeling showed in the riots, there didn't seem much doubt that if the East Germans could join with those in the West in choosing a government, it wouldn't be a Russian puppet.

Phillips Finishes Pre-Flight Work At Naval School

George Phillips, son of Mr. and Mrs. George C. Phillips of 119 Hinde Street, Washington C. H., has been graduated from the U. S. Naval Pre-Flight School at the Navy air station in Pensacola, Fla.

George Phillips

In a letter from the school to Mr. and Mrs. Phillips it states that during the fifteen week course Phillips took, he demonstrated by his attitude and diligence he possesses the high qualifications necessary to become a competent officer and pilot. His successful completion of the courses, which are on the college level, represents a real accomplishment.

Phillips went to the school on sians sent a note agreeing to such a conference but it was a fuzzy kind of note and threw in various outside issues. While the Western Powers were puzzling over it, Soviet Premier Malenkov made a speech.

He said any unified Germany would have to be disarmed. Then the Russians sent a second note, which seemed a plain acknowledgment that their first note showed either haste or confusion.

They suggested a conference on Germany in six months. This dangled a vague hope of something in front of the Germans just before election time while leaving the Russians free to wreck such a conference six months later, if it was ever held.

In the meantime, they said, there should be a provisional government set up for all Germany. Made up how? A combination, the Russians said, it should be composed of the East and West German parliaments.

But to the West Germans this East German Parliament, a creature of the Communists, could hardly claim to be representative of the East Germans who had in effect repudiated it with their riots.

This didn't sit well with Adenauer's Christian Democrats or his election opponents, the Social Democrats. But EDC and unification remained issues, for Russia warned unification was impossible if West Germany joined EDC.

Then Russia tried another move, no doubt intended to serve a triple purpose: soften some West Germans; mollify the East Germans; and bolster the sagging prestige of the East German government.

Calling the Communist leaders of East Germany to Moscow, Russia promised East Germany financial help and to free a number of German prisoners still in Russian hands since World War I.

April 20, 1953. He is now at Corry Field for flight training.

Phillips was graduated from Washington C. H. High School in 1949. He attended Ohio State University at Columbus for three years after he graduated from high school. He was on the first string football team of the WHS Blue Lions and also played a little football for Ohio State.

Mamie Quiet On Vacation In Colorado

DENVER (AP)—Mamie Eisenhower is having "a wonderful rest" here in her home town, an old friend reports, but Denver is seeing very little of the First Lady.

So far as is known, the President's wife has been away from the 750 Lafayette St. home of her mother, Mrs. John S. Doud, only once since she arrived there with the Chief Executive Aug. 8.

The next morning she attended services at the nearby Corona Presbyterian Church, where she went to Sunday school as a girl.

A girlhood chum who asks not to be named says the First Lady has been turning down all sorts of invitations to social affairs and to informal get-togethers with old friends.

But she has been doing a lot of talking on the telephone to friends she has known for years, and some of them have been dropping by in the afternoons to talk over old times.

It's no secret that Denver's altitude — they call it the mile high city — bothers Mrs. Eisenhower, as it does some others. It tires her, so she has been sleeping late in the mornings and generally getting to bed quite early at night.

During the day when she isn't visiting with her mother or friends, there is the usual big stack of mail to sort through and answer.

Last week Mrs. Eisenhower was joined here by her White House secretary, Mrs. Mary Jane McCaffree, and together they have started planning for the Washington social season this winter.

Beef Heads List Of Abundant Foods During September

Beef heads the U. S. Department of Agriculture's plentiful food list for September.

For those who are buying beef to freeze, animal scientists have a few tips.

Those skilled at meat cutting may find it pays to buy meat wholesale to cut and package at home. Those who prefer only certain cuts or have limited freezer space might find "week-end specials" of other favorable buys attractive.

Most prepackaged meat at retail stores may need rewrapping in paper designed for freezer storage. Locker plants, however, or dealers who cater to home freezer trade usually sell meat ready-cut, freezer packaged and also ready-frozen.

Sanitation is important when cutting and packaging meat at home. It includes clean hands, cutting place and tools and clean wrappings so meat is as free of bacteria as possible. Freezing does not kill all bacteria that cause spoilage or that affect flavor of meat.

The main advantage of freezing meat, particularly for those who buy it, is the convenience of having a variety of meats on hand. Money can sometimes be saved if meat is bought when prices are down seasonally. Bifocal glasses were invented by Benjamin Franklin.

Our Tax Problems Are Still A $64 Question

The cry against high taxes, especially those for which the federal government is responsible, does not let up; in fact, it grows stronger month by month.

Within the past few days there seems to be a lot of talk right here in our own community. More tax revenue is needed here to maintain present service standards, everybody realizes, but the strong opposition to the increasing tax burden is bothering a lot of people, especially those with small or very moderate incomes. The inflationary living costs enter into this picture as a chief cause of tax opposition.

According to reports from Washington, D. C. both optimism and pessimism are being expressed down there, but it has been big government spending and taxes which have made necessary taxes for local communities like our own, hard to get.

World peace or world war hang by such thin threads every day that no one can be unduly hopeful very long. All of which colors the picture of American taxation from week to week. Congress is determined to push through a tax cut in 1954, but every realist in public life knows that taxes must be tailored to suit the needs of our government in the areas of military and civilian preparedness.

Any major calamity can upset the tax apportionment completely, and even a minor difficulty can destroy the best-intentioned tax cut plans of the Congress.

Nevertheless, legislators, like all human beings, know that they cannot plan for chaos. They do plan for what they can expect. So we all will be hearing a good deal out of Washington in the next few months about the double taxation of corporate earnings, through the tax on corporate income and the tax on dividends in the stockholder's envelope; the deduction of child care expenses incurred by working mothers; the six-month holding period required for capital gains to be considered long-term transactions; the depletion allowances available to mining operations, particularly our seriously threatened coal industry.

These are problems to turn the Ways and Means Committee members of Congress into daytime somnambulists. They will undoubtedly come up with a tax bill. We can only hope that it won't hurt too much to pay it.

Still Not Known

Of grave concern to every American is the fact that thus far—at least up until the last few days—the Reds have failed to account for somewhere between six and eight thousand Americans taken as prisoners of war in Korea. Only a few captured officers have been exchanged as yet. Still held are Major General William F. Dean, and many other high ranking officers. Seemingly the Reds are continuing to play the United States for "suckers" in carrying out the prisoner exchange under the truce.

What Does Discrimination Cost?

NEW YORK (AP)—There was a story in the papers the other day which recalls that painfully familiar words, "minorities."

An American sergeant, freed in Korea, was awarded the Congressional Medal of Honor. This is America's highest military decoration, and as you might expect, the citation reads: "His indomitable heroism and consummate devotion to duty reflect the utmost glory on himself and uphold the highest traditions of the military service."

The sergeant's name is Hiroshi Miyamura.

Nobody will ever know how many guys named Smith, Jones, Brown, McLeod and O'Rourke are alive today because he stayed behind, alone, blasting with a machinegun.

Nor can we ever estimate how much this country owes the 442nd Central Postal Directory.

How many potential Medal of Honor winners, how many artists and scientists, how many plain good citizens, have been lost to America because the concept of minorities still persists? What does it cost us, every day, to set people apart by reason of race or color?

Here is one case:

During the last war, this writer was a prisoner of the Japanese for about a year. There was an investigation on charges of espionage.

The interpreter was a bright young fellow who spoke perfect English. One day, he took a ferocious risk. He told me he was an American, born in California.

Two of his brothers were then serving in the American Army. He had been pressed into the Japanese Army.

"If you ever get home," he said, "I wish you'd deliver a message to my family. Tell them I'd like to be with my brothers—in the Army."

And how did he happen to be in the wrong uniform?

"You come from California," he said. "You remember how it was."

I knew what he meant. There were the days of the "yellow peril," the Japanese "picture brides," and all the weird nonsense about how "the Japs" were all spies and planning to take over the Los Angeles City Hall any minute now.

What was worse, they used to work in their truck gardens on Saturdays and Sundays. How can you compete with a sinister Oriental who works on Sunday? It was strictly dirty pool.

The fact that the Japanese were practically model citizens mattered not at all. A Japanese name seldom, if ever, appeared in the crime news. During the Depression, none was on relief rolls. They always were among the first to meet their quotas in the Community Chest and Red Cross drives. Their homes and stores, and the very streets in "Little Tokyo," were spotlessly clean.

That didn't help much in those days. You see, the configuration of their eyes was different from ours.

"Finally, I couldn't take it any more," he said. "Especially in high school, I felt as though I didn't belong. I thought, 'OK I'm not an American, there's no use trying to be one.'"

So he left this country, went to Japan, got a job. When the war came, the Japanese Army grabbed him. He was especially useful because of his language and there was nothing he could do about it.

"I'm sorry now," he said. "I guess I was pretty dumb."

Who knows? He might have been another Sgt. Miyamura. He might have been one of those in the 442nd RCT. He might have contributed any number of invaluable services to the country that bore him.

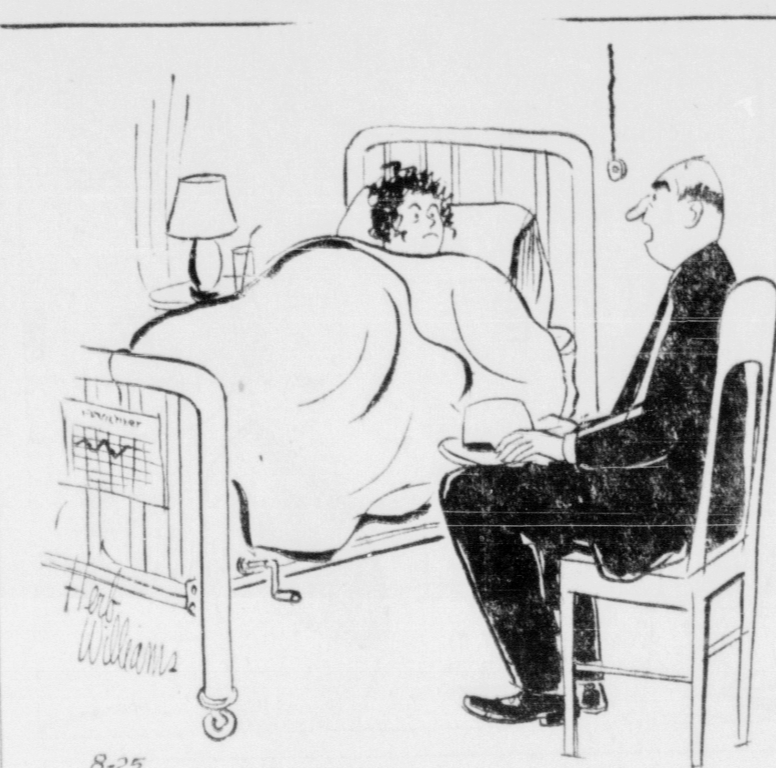

How many like him have we lost? How many people are Communists, spies, traitors, festering enemies because "I felt as though I didn't belong?"

Indian Herb Is Aid To Hypertension

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN
An East Indian herb, used for centuries in that part of the world to combat everything from insanity to high blood pressure, has been the subject of a world-wide search to discover its magic healing property.

In the course of that search, a new drug has been found that some doctors believe seems to be an aid to suffering from hypertension, or, as it is more commonly known, high blood pressure. It is stated that scientists worked for six years before finding the substance in the root that lowered the blood pressure.

When the blood pressure is elevated above its normal value, as measured by an apparatus known as a sphygmomanometer, the condition usually requires treatment. But the blood pressure may vary with the temperament and excitability of the person. What may be normal for one person may be high for another. That is why it is pointless for a non-medical person to take one's blood pressure.

High blood pressure in itself can cause heart and kidney disease and strokes, and is one of the worst enemies of mankind.

Sedative Effect

A cure for this disease has long been sought, and many drugs are on the market that may give temporary help. However, this new drug made from a plant known as Rauwolfia serpentina may turn out to be of real, long-lasting aid. The late Mahatma Gandhi used this drug for many years because of its sedative effects, in order to overcome his nervousness and sleeplessness.

Differing from most other drugs used to date, this root extract has been found to be effective in certain cases for the prolonged treatment of high blood pressure. Not only is it effective in treating this condition, but it has a moderate sedative action against the nervousness from which a person with this disease often suffers.

Few Side Reactions
Most of the other agents that lower blood pressure require the patients to be hospitalized due to the serious side reactions connected with their administration. But with this drug, there are very few side reactions. The patient may get a slight congestion of the nose, the heart beat is slightly slowed, and there is a small amount of sleepiness produced by this drug. Other than that, there are few effects other than positive action on the blood pressure.

Naturally, this preparation should only be used under the directions of a physician.

'Seeing-Eye Wife' Needs Medic Now
NEW YORK (AP)—Author-cartoonist James Thurber, who is nearly blind, made an urgent appeal today for help in finding his eye doctor—to treat his wife.

She, too, has developed a serious, and sudden, eye ailment. Thurber said his eye specialist, Dr. Gordon Bruce, is somewhere in Colorado, visiting ranches which have no telephones. He expressed hope that newspapers or radio might be able to get word to the doctor, so he could fly here to treat "my seeing-eye wife who has had me around for 30 years."

Ike's Politicking Disturbs GOP

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25 —

President Eisenhower's deep dive into mayoralty politics in New York City astonishes and disturbs many national Republican leaders. They fear it may entangle him in local issues and intrigues that will cost him prestige throughout the country. He may become a partisan rather than a national figure to millions of independents, liberals and the politically faceless who voted for him last fall.

As usual, Ike's unexpected intervention in a strictly municipal brawl is blamed on Gov. Thomas E. Dewey by the latter's many enemies within the GOP. It would be a gayplume in the Albany man's political bonnet if he could use Ike to recapture City Hall for the Republicans, who have not won it on their own in modern times.

AMBITIONS — Dewey's dragging of the President into the affair tends to confirm reports that he will run for governor next year. It also indicates that he still cherishes ambitions for another presidential nomination, either in 1956 or 1960.

If he can engineer a Republican triumph in the nation's greatest metropolis, he will rank next to Eisenhower as a glamor boy, despite his two national reverses. And Ike will shine in reflected glory as a result of his formal blessing of the campaign on behalf of the Republican nominee, Harold Riegelman, former acting postmaster.

Dewey's concern springs from the fact that he will be a major campaign issue. In an effort to straighten out the city's tangled finances, he intervened to boost subway fares to 15 cents and to impose higher taxes. The Democrats expect to win votes by assailing him as an absentee tyrant.

PROFITABLE TIME — Never, perhaps, were the times more propitious for a Republican demonstration of power and popularity in the ballroom of Franklin D. Roosevelt, Fiorello H. La Guardia, Bronx boss for a generation. Unlike Farley, who could not stomach the third term, Flynn ran that campaign as Democratic national chairman. He continued to carry the New Deal torch in New York politics.

Flynn and the Manhattan machine—Tammany Hall — were backing Robert F. Wagner Jr., son of the late senator, who sponsored so many Rooseveltian reforms. Wagner is the champion of surviving New Dealers — the Roosevelts, Harrimans, Berles, etc.

If they can nominate and elect Wagner, and possibly land Harriman in the governor's chair next year, it will restore their waning fortunes within the national Democratic household. They have stood in the shadows since they were routed by Southern and conservative Democrats at the Chicago convention last year.

REASONS — The island organizations—Brooklyn, Queens and Staten Island—back Mayor Impellitteri, who succeeded William O'Dwyer when he was named ambassador to Mexico by Truman.

GOP leaders, dramatized by his failure to resume his New York residence, to aid them in their attempted comeback.

The more conservative and anti-New Deal Democrats support Impellitteri. The break between the two factions is highlighted by Farley's endorsement of the mayor. The outcome of the intra-party struggle may improve or depress Farley's position in party councils. He sided with the Southern faction at Chicago.

Thus, the Dewey-Eisenhower interest is understandable. Besides drubbing the Democrats, they see a chance to discredit the Roosevelt-Truman philosophy on its home grounds.

Nevertheless, Ike's ostentatiously publicized Waldorf-Astoria huddlings with Dewey, Riegelman, local and state bosses, on his recent visit to New York disturb many of his close advisers. Having boasted in the 1952 campaign that he was "not a politician," and attracted many votes thereby, they think it dangerous for him to become identified with the smoke-filled, back-room clubhouse.

Next Toll Road Across Ohio To Be Three CCC's

However, New Road Is To Pass Many Miles From WCH

Reports state that the "Three C's Turnpike" is the next super-highway planned in Ohio. It will connect Cleveland, Columbus and Cincinnati, but there is no indication that it will follow the present CCC Highway through Washington C. H. The general route, which is still rather tentative, would be from Cincinnati to Conneaut, taking almost a straight line diagonally across the heart of Ohio from its southwest corner to its northeast corner. However, the road, originally planned to pass through Washington C. H. and follow the present CCC, will pass many miles to the north of Washington C. H., possibly in the vicinity of Springfield, Dayton to Akron and Cleveland. It would provide a much speedier route than any present route, it is pointed out.

Most of the new toll highway would not follow present routes, but would cut through in an effort to avoid passing directly through the larger centers.

Such a highway would lessen the constantly growing amount of traffic through this city, it is believed. However, the CCC's super highway is still several years away, it is believed, but the Ohio Turnpike Commission is studying the proposal, and may soon call for a specific survey.

In the meantime, there is no money available to meet initial costs, such as engineering work and tentative plans and specifications.

It is known that the proposed super-highway through this city, as outlined a few years ago, struck a snag in grade railroad crossings within the city, so that if the road had touched this city it would be necessary for it pass to the northern or southern edge of the city.

A spokesman for officers of the Turnpike Commission has expressed the belief that such a toll highway would more than pay for itself and its maintenance.

The 300-mile toll road projected across the state would cost an estimated $400,000,000 and tie in with a new branch of the Pennsylvania toll road which will reach Erie, Pa.

Letters To Editor

Washington C. H., Ohio
August 24, 1953
Editor, Record-Herald
Band Uniforms and Activity Fee

Dear Sir:
Some weeks ago, apropos of new band uniforms, some mother wrote "To The Editor," asking if the high school band receives its just share of the activity money. Inasmuch as I wrote a brief narrative of the origin of our band uniforms a few weeks ago, and in view of the fact that I introduced the whole activity ticket idea to Washington High School, it seems appropriate that I should explain the entire idea from its inception.

As previously stated, when we organized the band, it had no supporting income at all. Neither did any other school activity. Football and basketball were supposed to be supported by game admissions. The band an orchestra depended upon the income from an annual concert, which rarely netted more than $50, and playing engagements for other schools and various organizations.

During the administration of Dwight Ireland as high school principal, I was working on my graduate degree at Miami University, majoring in music. The director of music for Middletown High School was in class with me, and when the matter of financing the musical program came up for discussion he explained the ACTIVITY FEE method which was in use with great success in Middletown.

I brought his plan back to Mr. Ireland. A conference followed between Ireland, Coach Maurer and myself in which we thrashed out all factors of the plan.

Our games at that time were on Friday afternoons, when business men could not easily attend, which reduced our gate receipts. Furthermore, Mr. Ireland pointed out that we carried a tremendous overhead of free admissions: gatekeepers, ticket salesmen, the team and substitutes, band members, refreshment booth attendants, etc. This made up a large percent of the whole high school enrollment at that time.

The scheme, as we adopted it, was simply this: activity tickets were to be offered to all students at a flat price for the year. The tickets could be paid for by the week, month, semester or year.

We arrived at the price by assuming that the normal 100 percent student body would attend all home football games, basketball games, junior play, senior play, orchestra concert, purchase a high school annual and attend the class picnic. Adding up the student rates on these events, and making a deduction for cash in advance, we arrived at the price.

Having gone this far, we made an ironclad rule that any student who wished to be in any high school activity other than required studies, MUST have an activity ticket. This meant that a band or orchestra member, the member of a play cast, basketball or football player must own an activity ticket.

Mr. Ireland said to me, "Now, Mr. Kay, what if one of your best musicians refuses to purchase a ticket?" I replied, "I will fire him. I do not want a band member with such poor school spirit that he will refuse to support the activity he enjoys." Ireland turned to the coach and said, "And what about the football team?" The coach made the same reply. He wanted boys of 100 percent school spirit on his team.

Then Mr. Ireland made the following ruling: In order to protect the team in a program already set up, and the band in maneuvers already practiced, team and band members would be allowed to fall in arrears two weeks. Each home room teacher was supposed to keep track of the financial affairs of his students, notifying the principal of arrearages.

Up to the time of my retirement, this scheme had worked very well. One may readily see, however, that to be effective, it must be enforced 100 percent. As soon as exceptions begin to be made, it will be like a hole in the dike. We always made arrangements by which a worthy indigent student could earn his ticket.

Now as to the question, "Does the band get its share?" I must say that I never knew what share the band was getting during my time as band director. However, Principal Titus recently supplied me with the formula now in use for the distribution of the money.

Each participating activity for which there is a charge during the year receives one-half the student cost of the activity, multiplied by the number of events and the number of activity books sold. Of course, this applies to the activity books. In addition to this, each activity would, of course, receive the net income from its won public entertainment. Band concert money would belong to the band, football income would belong to the athletic department.

There might be some room for argument that the band is a notable attraction to part of the football crowds. That would be difficult to determine.

The annual cost of the activity books at present is $5.50, including a copy of the Sunburst. Where more than one member of a family are in attendance and only one copy of the annual is desired, one member pays $5.50, remaining members paying $4.

The purchase of an activity book gives each student an admission to all listed events at one-half regular student admission price. (Signed) Karl J. Kay

Automatic dishwashing lets you say goodbye to a disagreeable daily chore

Even if you don't mind doing dishes by hand, electric dishwashing does a cleaner job, saves you at least 30 minutes a day!

Water hot enough to wash dishes clean is too hot for human hands.

Electric dishwashing is easier for you, easier on the dishes. You never touch hot water. A quick flick-off of food scraps, a jiffy to load the electric dishwasher—in five minutes at the most, your part is done. The rest is automatic.

Why stand and redden your hands in hot water for twenty to thirty-five minutes when electric dishwashing does the job so much better?

Now you can end family dishwashing arguments for good. See the new electric dishwashers and electric sinks at your appliance dealer's and decide which style fits your kitchen best. Some are built-in, some are separate appliances, some you can wheel about. All can be bought on deferred payments if you wish.

See your appliance dealer this week and say goodbye to old-fashioned dishwashing.

WHY CARRY MORE THAN YOUR SHARE?

Start paying your bills by check, now, and have receipts (your cancelled checks, automatically returned) to prove tax-deductible expenses you will want to claim next March.

Former Resident Of This City Is Bride of Saturday

Mrs. Gordon Gouveneur Barnewall

A marriage of unusual interest to friends of the bride here is of Miss Virginia Brayton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Bingham Brayton, former residents of this city, now residing near York, Pennsylvania, to Mr. Gordon Gouveneur Barnewall of Arlington, Virginia, son of Mr. and Mrs. William G. Barnewall of Green Bank, West Virginia.

The wedding was solemnized on Saturday, August 22, in St. John's Episcopal Church in York, with Rev. Earl A. Honamann officiating at the single ring ceremony at four o'clock in the afternoon, which was preceded by a program of organ music.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose an ivory satin wedding gown, fashioned along princess lines, with long sleeves, a deep hertha of duchesse and rose-point beirloom lace, outlining the portrait neckline, and a triangular piece of the same lace was worn as a mantilla extending over the shoulders. The dress was designed for and was worn by two cousins of the bride, members of the wedding party.

A cascade bouquet of lilies of the valley and white roses were flowers carried by the bride.

Attending the bride were Mrs. Orville A. Dean II, and Mrs. John H. Danforth of Cleveland, both cousins, who were matron of honor and bride's matron respectively, and Miss Cornelia T. Brown of White Plains, New York, a classmate, as bridesmaid.

The bridegroom was attended by Mr. John W. Skinner of Washington, D. C., and seating the guests were Dr. Arthur Cullman and Dr. William R. Davidson, both of Columbus, and Dr. Donald S. Watson of Washington, D. C.

The attendants, all gowned alike, were in peacock blue antique silk shantung dresses with halter necklines, matching bolero jackets and full skirts, ballerina length.

Mrs. Dean carried a bouquet of white daisies and the other attendants carried yellow daisies, each wearing matching wreaths of daisies in their hair.

A reception following the wedding was entertained by the parents of the bride at the Yorktown Hotel in York, and Mrs. Brayton received the guests in a beige taffeta street length dress, with sequins and pearls in embroidered designs at the neckline.

Later Mr. Barnewall and his bride left on their honeymoon to Maine and Canada and after September 15 they will be at home at 4609 N. 19th Street, Arlington, Va.

The bride, a graduate of Washington C. H. High School in the class of 1946, and Lake Erie College For Women, Painesville, in 1950, was associated as a social worker with the Red Cross Chapter in Youngstown and Washington, D. C.

The bridegroom graduated from the University of Colorado in 1947, received his Master's Degree in Business Administration from Ohio State University in 1949, and is now an assistant professor at George Washington University, in Washington, D. C.

Detroit Team Is Regional Champion In Tourney Here

Taking both ends of a doubleheader, Detroit soundly proved that it was the best team in the East Central Regional Women's Four-State Softball Tournament as it defeated the Cincinnati Red Real Estate outfit in the finals of the tournament Monday night at Wilson Field, 9 to 3 and 15 to 2.

Detroit now has won the right to represent this district in the national women's softball tourney at Toronto, Canada.

The Detroiters had to win the tourney the hard way. The rules provided for double elimination and up till last night Cincinnati had not been defeated in tourney play. Detroit had lost one game to Metamora, which was knocked out of the tourney Sunday evening in a second contest with Detroit. Metamora had lost to Cincinnati earlier.

Other teams which took part in the tourney were Washington C. H., Parkersburg, W. Va., Cleveland and Columbus.

BEAUTIFUL trophies were presented to the champion Detroit outfit and to runner-up Cincinnati. Willard Wilson, owner of Wilson Field, presented the championship trophy and Max Lawrence, tourney manager, awarded the runner up trophy.

A beauty contest is also held along with the women's tournament in an effort to pick Miss Softball of 1953. Each district will pick a representative to be in the beauty contest at the time of the national tourney.

Picked from this district as "Miss Regional" was Miss Loraine

Gun Factory Foreman Cops Rifle Crown

CAMP PERRY (AP)—A Connecticut Yankee who makes his own gun stocks, works in an ammunition factory and fires a minimum of 50,000 rounds a year in practice, is the new national small bore rifle champion.

John J. Crowley of Clintonville, Conn., a stocky 38-year-old research foreman for Winchester Repeating Arms Co., ended four days of firing here yesterday with 3,197 points of a possible 3,200.

Two other sharpshooters equaled Crowley's 3,197 score—Charles Whipple of Somerset, Pa. and John Moschkau of Waterloo, Iowa. But Crowley had 255 of 320 shots in the X-ring, a 3/4-inch wide circle at the center of the bullseye and half the size of a full bullseye. Whipple got 253 in the ring, and Moschkau, 252.

Charles Rodgers, 18-year-old Phoenix, Ariz., lad, defended successfully his junior small bore rifle championship, for shooters 18 and under. He scored 3,195 for an overall ranking of eighth among the 700 competitors. Rex Brewster of Glendale, Ariz., was second junior with 3,193.

Miss Viola Pollum of Brookville, Pa., fired a perfect 400 yesterday to overtake Mrs. Neva Seagly of Topeka, Ind., who had 397. They ended tied at 3,185, but Miss Pollum had 234 shots in the X-ring to 225 for Mrs. Seagly.

Ohio Waterfowl Dates Are Set

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of the Interior McKay yesterday announced these regulations for hunting migratory waterfowl in Ohio:

Daily bag limits—ducks 4, geese 5, coot 10, woodcock 4 and jack-snipe 8. Possession limits are the same except 8 ducks may be kept.

Seasons—ducks, geese and coot Oct. 19-Dec. 12, provided the season in and near Pymatuning Reservoir, Ashtabula County, shall be Oct. 15-Dec. 12, Woodcock Oct. 1, Nov. 9, Jacksnipe Oct. 1-15.

The United States Golf Association now conducts seven tournaments annually.

Proclamation Wins Pace At Roosevelt

WESTBURY, N. Y. (AP)—Proclamation led from the start at Roosevelt Raceway last night and gained a length and three-quarter decision over Mynah Hanover and take the honors in the Virginia Pace.

Jack Carey, driving the 7 year old bay mare for the Belle Aire Farm of Washington C. H., Ohio, sped to a 2:05.3 victory with little trouble. The victory was Proclamation's second of the season in 15 starts.

State Fair Races Worth $48,500

COLUMBUS (AP)—The richest harness racing program in the history of the Ohio State Fair begins Saturday with $48,500 in purses to be distributed during the six-day meet.

The annual feature, the Sept. 2 $5,000 Governor's Cup, has attracted 38 three-year-old trotters. Another big money event is the $4,000 Director of Agriculture pace, set for Sept. 1.

133 Golfers Seek Honors In Ohio Open

HUDSON (AP)—Ohio drops the curtain on its competitive golf season this week, and 81 professionals and 52 amateurs involved in the State Open meet at the Lake Forest Country Club are finishing with a flourish.

Seven of the original 140 entrants in the ancient meet either didn't start or didn't finish, but the 133 competitors had themselves a time over the rugged, 6970-yard layout which played at par 73 yesterday but was slated to be back to normal 72 today.

Out front as they teed off today was 42-year-old Dock Shoemaker of Warrensville, Cleveland suburb, who dropped two strokes when his tee shot wandered out of bounds on the fourth hole but who snared four birdies and an eagle for a 36-34-70 over the 36-36-73 course. Shoemaker is no flash-in-the-pan upstart. He holds the Cleveland district title and won the Youngstown district crown a year ago. Defending champion Frank Gei-hoff of Cincinnati chipped in a 74, one over par, where he was deadlocked with nine others. Bracketed at 71 were Ted Hugel, 39-year-old Cleveland; 19-year-old Rick Jones of Youngstown, the leading amateur who will be a sophomore at Ohio State this fall, and Bob Kepler, the Buck golf coach who will have Rich as a varsity candidate.

Bloomington Lions Club To Aid "Spotters"

Club In Charge Of Traffic Control For "Field Days"

Committee reports comprised most of the business discussed at the Bloomington Lions Club dinner meeting held Monday evening in the Bloomington High School.

One new project was started, however, the direct result of the appearance of the featured speaker of the evening, a member of the U. S. Air Force, who was introduced by Robert Jefferson.

Corporal Hamden, who is in charge of Airplane Observation Control in this district, was present and explained the importance of the "airplane spotter" to our nation's defense.

It was agreed by the Lions Club members to help set-up an Observation Post in Bloomington. The location will be at Mann's Service Station, and will be staffed by the members of the Lions Club.

IT WAS ANNOUNCED at the meeting that the Bloomington club will be in charge of parking and directing of traffic during the big conservation days to be held Sept. 7, 8 and 9. The location of the Field Day events will be at Walter Seifried's Fayette Herford Ranch. Lions Club President Jess A. Schlichter was in charge of the meeting and after the singing of "America," and the pledge of allegiance, Rev. Lester Taylor, pastor of the Bloomington Methodist Church, pronounced the invocation.

Guests at the meeting were Robert Angus and James Hunter of West Palm Beach, Florida.

HOWARD 'BUS' Foster expressed the thanks of the Poy Scout Troop which recently enjoyed a day in Cincinnati at the expense of the Lions Club. Foster made it clear that each of the thirty-three boys who made the trip had a very good time during their visit to the Zoo and the Reds baseball game.

John Aills reported on the Cub Pack picnic, which was held at the Charles McCoy farm recently.

Joe Elliott, general chairman of the wrestling show to be staged at the Fayette County Fairgrounds, Wednesday evening, Sept. 2, gave the club members a preview of the excellent card that has been arranged. It was announced that some of the country's best known wrestlers will be here for the matches.

Attendance at the meeting was 93 percent.

A. W. Radebaugh Dies At Lancaster

Mr. and Mrs. Max Thomas of Jeffersonville, have received word that Arthur W. Radebaugh, 517 East Allen Street, Lancaster, died Monday evening following a heart attack.

Mr. Radebaugh was the father-in-law of the Thomas' daughter, Mrs. Melba Thomas Radebaugh of Lancaster.

He was a frequent visitor to Washington C. H. and Fayette County, and had many friends here.

Survivors are his wife, Louise, and one daughter and one son, Mrs. William F. Brown and John A. Radebaugh, all of Lancaster.

Mr. Radebaugh was associated with the Taylor and Radebaugh firm of Lancaster for a number of years.

Funeral services will be at the late residence at 10 A. M. Thursday. Friends may call at the residence any time.

Presbyterian Women of 4th District Meet

Hold Discussion And Instruction About Future Programs

A group of women from the churches which comprise the 4th district of the Columbus Presbyterian met in this city Monday morning for instruction and discussion of the 1954 program of the Women's Association of their various churches.

Primarily this conference was for the women who will be new officers next year.

Mrs. Ormond Dewey, of this city, who is the district president, conducted the meeting and during the morning session clearly presented the comprehensive plans of worship and study for the coming year.

Following the noon luncheon, a panel discussion was held during the afternoon. Several women who attended the Leadership Training School at the College of Wooster in July, presented pertinent facts and suggestions attained in their courses.

These pertained to National Missions, Foreign Missions and Social Education in connection with action as outlined by the Presbyterian Church.

Leaders in these discussions were Mrs. C. B. Mason, Chillicothe; Miss Fannie Lowery, Greenfield; Mrs. Howard Wilson and Mrs. Ralph Rae, South Salem; Mrs. Reginald Blue, Frankfort; Mrs. Eli Mowry, Waverly; Mrs. Rankin Paul of Washington.

Presbyterian Churches of Chillicothe, Frankfort, Concord, Bournville, South Salem, Waverly, Greenfield, Pisgah, Bloomington, McNair and the First Presbyterian Church of this city were represented.

Resurfacing Work Has Been Completed

Work of resurfacing the New Martinsburg Road, from the Greenfield Road to the Fayette-Highland county line, some distance south of New Martinsburg, has been completed.

The smooth surface of the road, which has been widened somewhat in places, makes travel easy and brings the highway up on a par with other improved county roads.

Work of placing stone on the berms is now under way, and when this phase of the project is finished, the improvement will be an exceptionally good one.

James F. Newell Summoned Monday

James F. Newell, 64, died Monday at 2:30 P. M. at the home of his brother, Nathan Newell on the Chillicothe Road, where he had resided since July. He formerly lived at 219 West Elm Street.

He had been in failing health for two years and his condition had been serious the past three months.

Mr. Newell was a carpenter and painter, and also a gifted wood carver.

He was a member of the Methodist Church in South Salem, and had resided in Washington C. H. for 12 years.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Viola Newell; three sons and four daughters: Lester, Dayton; Arthur, city; Robert, Good Hope; Mrs. Myrtle Hixson, city; Mrs. Lena Poole, Foster; Mrs. Helen Donahue and Mrs. Thelma Matson, both of Washington C. H.; 25 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren; three brothers and one sister: Edward F. Newell, Greenfield; Nathan, Chillicothe Road; George A., city, Route 6; and Mrs. Ada Hummel, Fostoria.

Funeral services will be held Thursday at 2 P. M. at the Gerstner Funeral Home. Burial will be made in the family lot in the South Salem Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home at any time.

City Board of Education Has Monday Session

Important Action Regarding Accepting New Tuition Students

Approval was granted by the Washington C. H. city board of education Monday night, to make available to parents a special school accident insurance policy covering accidents of pupils en route to school, during school time, and on the way home from school. Accidents in all sports except high school football are also covered in the terms of the policy.

Participation in the program is purely voluntary, Supt. W. A. Smith stated in reporting on the board's action.

Because of the overcrowded conditions existing in the schools the board found it necessary to refuse permission to those students who had made application to attend the elementary grades on a personal tuition basis. Exception was made for those students who had previously attended the city schools on such an agreement. This chiefly affects those students in the seventh and eighth grades who have recently made such application.

Acceptance was made of the bid submitted by the Matson Floor Service to furnish materials and install a greaseproof asphalt tile floor in the new first grade room at Rose Avenue School.

GLEN BEVERLY was employed by the board as combination bus driver and attendance officer for the city schools.

Following routine business, the board members, accompanied by Supt. Smith and Clerk-Treasurer Fred Rost, made an inspection tour of each of the city school buildings. Individual members expressed themselves as being well pleased with conditions of the buildings and equipment, Smith reported. The buildings were declared to be in readiness for the opening of school on Wednesday, Sept. 9.

Sellout Of WHS Football Season Tickets Expected

Season tickets for the 1953 Washington C. H. High School football season were put on sale for the first time Monday and already 40 percent of them have been taken.

Arthur Engle, high school teacher and manager of the ticket sales, said he was swamped yesterday afternoon selling the tickets. The seats are in the stadium. The season ticket includes admission to all of the five home football games and a reserved seat.

Holders of season tickets last season who turned in their stubs at the end of the season may have their same seats again for this season. Engle said those who did turn in the stubs would have to call at the high school to pick up their tickets.

Engle will be at the high school every afternoon Monday through Friday in the dean's office between the hours of two to five.

Tickets may also be purchased from members of the football team.

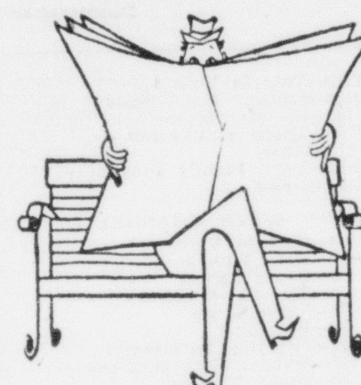

Engle stated, "It looks like a sure sell-out of season tickets for this year."
